WINTER TERM.

The Winter Term of the College opened on January 2, at 10:00 A.M. A fine body of students and friends gathered in the assembly room to enjoy the first service which was conducted by the President. Dr. D. R. Seneff, Revs. S. Mills, and Mr. Hull also participated in the opening exercises. The President extended greetings on the part of the faculty to new and old students. All seemed in a happy frame of mind, though the weather conditions were gloomy for a week. After the necessary announcements the matriculation of students was continued. Up to January 4, a larger number of students had matriculated than for the whole of the Fall Term. Quite a number additional of old and new students will enter within the next few days.

The following visitors were present at the opening exercises: Dr. D. R. Seneff, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Prof. C. E. Bigelow, Prof. and Mrs. Mathews, Dr. H. V. Anderson, Rev. S. Mills, and Mrs. B. F. Daugherty.

Rev. D. E. Baer, '87, Astoria, Ill., conducted chapel exercises on the morning of January 4, and made appropriate remarks.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

WESTFIELD COLLEGE is situated in the beautiful, healthful, and growing town of Westfield, Clark County, Illinois. It is situated on the Olney Division of the C., H. & D. railroad. This road connects Westfield with Hume, Olney, and intermediate towns, making excellent connections for Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Springfield, Decatur, Peoria, and other important towns, and making Westfield easy of access from all parts of Illinois and Indiana. Students coming to Westfield can make the following connections over the roads indicated at the stations named: Vandalia, at Casey on the south; at Borton Junction on the north; Big Four, at Kansas; Clover Leaf, at Brocton; C., H. & D., at Hume; C. & E. I., at Sidell; Illinois Central, at Willow Hill; B. & O. S. W., at Olney. The interurban lines in the northwest part of our coöperating territory now connect with the C., H. & D. at Springfield and Decatur. On the line of this road, two and one-half miles south of Westfield, where gas has been flowing from an old well for thirty years, there has just been struck, as the result of recent drilling, an abundant supply of gas. Negotiations are in progress to supply Westfield and neighboring towns with light and fuel from this well. A considerable quantity of oil of good quality has been found, and two good veins of coal have been passed through at workable depths.

Westfield is entirely free from saloons and other places of low resort. Its excellent moral sentiment makes it an especially desirable place for the residence of students.

EXPENSES.

No other item of information is of more interest to the students than that relating to expenses. It is believed that a thorough and complete College course can be pursued as cheaply here as at any College in the country. The following is a statement of the more important items of expense:

Furnished rooms, except fuel, light and towels, 50 cents a week to each of two students occupying the same room. Table board from $2.00 to $3.00 per week. Books for the year, from $5 to $15. Incidental expenses, including fuel, oil, and laundry, from $10 to $20 per year. Board, with furnished rooms in private homes, from $2.50 to $3.00 per week. An entire year in Westfield College need not cost the student more than $150. Many spend a year in College with a less sum and do not realize any inconvenience in so doing. Licensed preachers and children of preachers will be charged one-half the regular tuition in the College courses.

GOVERNMENT.

The regulations of the College are such that a lady or gentleman can heartily accept. Students are expected to act from a high sense of honor rather than from fear for authority. The tendencies to generous feelings and courteous actions are native in young people and when appealed to become the most potent influence in securing proper conduct. So much freedom as will not be abused, and in so far as it is in harmony with proper order, is cheerfully granted to the students.

Regular attendance upon classes is required and all absences must be satisfactorily accounted for. Five unexcused absences from classes, or the same number of absences from chapel services, will deprive the student from the privileges of all classes.

Students are solicited to correspond with the President regarding their work before entering College. Upon arrival at Westfield they should at once call at the College office for consultation regarding studies, rooms, and other preliminary matters.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

1. Students may enter at any time, provided they are able to take up the work of their classes at that time, but it is far better to be present at the opening of the College year.

2. Students coming from other schools are expected to bring with them certificates of honorable dismissal, and statements of work. Candidates of advanced standing, coming from other schools, will be given due credit for work accomplished, as certified by the proper officer of such institution.

3. Candidates for admission to the Freshman class may present grades from high schools or academies, or may be admitted on examination.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Among the helpful, stimulating advantages of College life are the literary societies. In Westfield College there are four societies. The Philalethean and Cleiorhetean for young women, and the Colomentian and Zetagathean for young men, furnish excellent training in reading, speaking, debate, and parliamentary practice. All students should avail themselves of the opportunity here offered by uniting with one of them. The societies have finely furnished halls and well-chosen libraries, and are doing excellent work for their members. Their meetings are held every Friday night.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

There are flourishing Christian Associations connected with the College. Each of these societies, the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., has its own attractively furnished room and suitable library. Bible study and mission classes are conducted by each for the better furnishing of its members. The weekly devotional meetings are helpful and stimulating to Christian life and character. Both societies exert a most wholesome religious influence in the College life.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION.

The College offers the Classical and Scientific Courses with the degrees A. B. and B. S. respectively, upon completion of the prescribed work.

The Preparatory Course is designed to fit young people for the Freshman class in any college.

The Business Department furnishes an up-to-date business course, shorthand and typewriting, commercial law and other features required in a complete business education.

The Department of Music offers full courses in instrumental and vocal music and grants diplomas to those who complete the required courses. Certificates are granted to those who take the shorter courses.

The Normal Department is organized to furnish a training-school for teachers.

The Department of Elocution and Physical Culture furnishes the opportunity for the best expression and physical development.

The Academy covers the usual college entrance requirements, both in scope and character of the work done.

The Normal Course includes the work required for public school teaching.

A fuller description of all courses will be given in the annual catalogue number of the Bulletin.

Other courses will be outlined according to our requirements.

Arrangements will be made to give credit toward a degree for the work in all adjunct departments. The amount of credit will be indicated in a later issue of the Bulletin.

Public School Teachers.

Teachers in the public schools of Clark and other counties will do well to plan to come to Westfield College in Spring term. Write for information.

High School Graduates.

Graduates of high schools will find it to their advantage to confer with the President of Westfield College before deciding where they will attend college next year.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC.

PIANOFORTE.

The course of study in this department includes:

I. Technical exercises, which are intended to give control of the muscles of fingers, hands, and arms, making them responsive to the commands of the will.

II. Etudes by the best teachers and composers, which give further development to the executive powers, to bring about a finer relation between the physical and intellectual faculties, and to form a connecting link between purely technical work and the higher forms of musical expression.

Many requests are made for information regarding the course of study. This information is not easy to give as the course varies more or less for each student. Many works should be studied by all, but beyond these there is much that may be essential for one student and not at all necessary for another. We adapt the instruction to the personal need, the purpose in each case being the development of a musical taste and a refined and intelligent style of playing.

Voice Culture.

True cultivation of the voice consists in the development of pure tone, and its easy, natural use and control in singing. Especial attention will be given that the student may attain a natural and easy method of breathing. Neither the so-called method of the Italian nor that of the German is used exclusively; but by the adoption of what are believed to be the best features of all methods, we endeavor to carry forward the formation and development of the singing voice.

NOTES.

A new Remington Typewriter, No. 7, with all the latest improvements, was put into the Commercial department. Mr. J. C. Peck paid the bill aside from an old Smith Premier given in exchange.

The Science department has had quite a number of additions during the fall term. The total additions cost more than one hundred dollars. Further additions will be made in the winter term. Those who have contributed toward this object are the following: Messrs. W. M. Churchill, H. R. Minor, D. O. Giffin, F. G. Rupp, David Pfitzenmaier, W. H. Arbogast, J. H. Peck, Arve K. Johnson.

An Induction Coil and X-Ray Machine will be put into the Science room during the winter term. These accessions to the Science department were made possible by the generosity of Mr. C. E. Biglow and Dr. H. V. Anderson of our Executive Committee, and Drs. J. Hall and J. J. Hinkley.

During the holiday vacation the assembly room was very tastefully papered. The music teacher's studio was also finely adorned on her return. There are other much needed improvement contemplated in the near future.

Since the issue of the last Bulletin the heat plant was thoroughly repaired. The entire furnace was torn down and worn-out parts replaced, and all the steam mains in the basement were covered with heavy asbestos. The improvements will mean better service at less cost than before.

In the last Bulletin the statement was made that the fall term's attendance was double the number of one year ago. This statement was made upon the number indicated on the record accessible, but it was afterward discovered that the figures applied to the literary students only, in which department the increase was just seventy per cent. over one year ago. This statement is due to all concerned, but the growth in attendance and interest is so gratifying as to be cause for rejoicing to all friends of the college.

Some valuable additions have been made to the library and other volumes will be added during the winter term.

Some weeks ago a letter was sent to the Alumni of the College in the interests of better equipment for Library and Laboratory. A similar letter was also sent to the Young People's societies of the coöperative territory. Quite a number of favorable responses have been received and promises from others. Many others should join the honored list. Many thanks to all for your interests and coöperation.

Miss J. Kathleen Meiklejohn has been added to the teaching force of the College. She will have charge of the Department of Elocution and Physical Culture. She is a graduate of the School of Oratory of the Northwestern University, has taught in this department in Ellsworth College, Iowa, and comes most highly recommended. She gives promise of very successful work. She has made a very favorable impression in beginning her work at Westfield. Good classes are being organized in both Elocution and Physical Culture.
